In these turbulent times, leadership is a journey without final destination and with few reliable maps. More than ever, leaders, managers, and entrepreneurs must build the road as they walk it. To do this they need to be creative, resilient, resourceful, and courageous. They need tools for working in complex, shifting environments. In times of unstable resources, they need to invite and empower everyone's leadership, including their own.

The ALIA Intensive is a place where you can strengthen this kind of leadership while working on your current project. Here you will find yourself at eye level with thought leaders, artists, meditation teachers, and inspired leaders, managers, and change-makers from across Europe.

You will leave ready to

- step into leadership in a way that is authentic for you
- engage uncertainty and change as your allies
- bring out the leadership in others
- navigate effectively through challenge and complexity
- apply new lenses and strategies to your current leadership goal or project

ALIA creates the conditions for empowered leadership and innovation. You are invited to step into an experience that will accelerate your journey and your work.

Bring your challenge, bring your opportunity,
bring yourself.
